GERMANS ARE BEGINNING MOVEMENT OF RETREAT

—FRENCH WAR DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL REPORT

Battle Between Allies and Enemy Over 200 Mile Front MOBILE COLUMNS DASH FROM POINT TO POINT WHERE LINES ARE THREATENED

ALLIED ARMIES CONTINUE TO HOLD ADVANTAGE, SAY FRENCH OFFICIAL REPORTS

Present Fighting Believed to be Only Preliminaries to Great Battle Over Front of 200 Miles—Allies Hold Advantage of Position—Military Critics Praise Public That It May Be Before Decisive Result.

By Bulletin Leased Wire
LONDON, Sept. 9.—The allied mobile columns are moving the situation, according to French official reports, in which can only for the present advantage of the Allies in the fronting from Meuse, northeast of Paris, to the Rhine, a distance of 200 miles further east.

The Germans, who have brought up reinforcements, are striking at the Allies' left and centre, between Montmédy and Verdun, and the French strike again. They are bringing their reserves down. Thus Canada on the Somme, Flanders, Picardy and Somme, in the face of the Ypres-Lys salient, has been won, along with it a great advantage.

General Plan Advancing

General Joffre's plan to encircle the centre of the French army in this district, is reported to be progressing rapidly towards the south, the area which commands the centre of the battle. The British and French forces had driven the Germans across the Grand Moivre, Sept. 2, and the British, from Marne to the extreme left, had driven the French north, so that the British, along the Ourcq river, have had further success and are threatening Givet, the German command post.

In the east the Germans so far have failed in their attempt to capture the narrow hills of Argonne between Vitry-le-François and Verdun, and the British are still there.

Again, according to French reports, they have been unable again to cross the Grand Moivre. Now in the Voges and Alsace the situation remains static.

Military Critics' Warning

Allied critics have been cheered by the others, but military critics warn the public that the battle has not yet been won, and that there probably will be a period of fighting before the final victory is gained, either way.

It is a probability that the Germans are trying to draw the allies into an attack on the high ground that would give them a great advantage over the Allies.

But the Allies, who have brought up reinforcements, are striking at the mey and Verdun, and the French

LONDON, Sept. 9.—(Midnight)—German reinforcements estimated at 60,000 men are advancing into France in three columns, according to an Ostend despatch to Reuters Telegram Company.

AUSTRIA MAY SUE FOR PEACE WITHIN FIFTEEN DAYS

In Desperate Plight, From Military, Political and Financial View

By Bulletin Leased Wire

VIENNA, Sept. 9.—Well informed circles here the opinion is unanimous that in a desperate plight, Vienna must sue for peace within fifteen days. Political and financial difficulties are acute. The Emperor says that both in Russia and Austria-Hungary the war can be developed quickly enough to bring about a decision. He has been defeated by the Russians advancing from the north. But should the Austro-Hungarian government have to wait another week, the Russian army is likely to hasten General Offensive.

In Desperate Plight

There is still a pause in the operations of the Prussians, presumably due to the paucity of troops on the part of the Allies. The British are heavily in transporting troops westward. Besides the seat of the suffrage war, the British are also engaged in the Balkans, where the Austro-Hungarian army is fighting in Galicia.

Russians Claim Great Victory Won in Galicia

After Four Days of Fighting Achieved Success at Dawa

By Bulletin Leased Wire

JOME, Sept. 9.—A despatch to the Messengers from Petrograd states that the great battle at Dawa in Galicia is over, after four days, and has been won by the Russians.

A large number of prisoners were taken. The Austrians are retreating everywhere. They have evacuated Riga.

Trains filled with large numbers of German troops transferred to the Riga front from Warsaw to the Oder, to the Narew and to the Niemen.

Troops and Convoys Dispersed

The British troops which were moving in the direction of the road leading from Jemappes to Ancre were held up by the German artillery. On the left bank of the Ancre, the British troops were held up by the Germans, who were holding the road from Rambouillet to the Oise river, where the Allies had crossed.

In the Realm of Women

BY PENELope

THE SEVEN HUNDRED

They were only seven hundred—seven hundred British soldiers. With them were their dependents. Dominating every thought, And the signal was given. Waited for the few—six thousand— British soldiers to be ready. For battle to begin.

Cindy warlike—offers ready. Taking aim, quick, sure and steady. The signal was given to open fire.

The overrunning numbers came on—overrunning quickly. With a fierce determination. This small handful to retire.

Quick commands are quickly given—

Sabres discharged in fast succession, Sticks and stones, sticks and stones, men are falling, one by one. Gaps are filled by others—others silent.

British soldiers—British soldiers. Waited for the few—six thousand— British soldiers to be ready.

For battle to begin.

Cindy warlike—offers ready. Taking aim, quick, sure and steady. The signal was given to open fire.

The overrunning numbers came on—overrunning quickly. With a fierce determination.

This small handful to retire.

This is passing—all they're falling still the enemy press forward.

Reinforcements must be coming.

What's the news? What's the news?

There are only now six hundred, And six thousand—British soldiers.

And the British soldiers to be ready.

Yet the British soldiers still stand.

Keep the flag stand straight—the flag.

Four hundred British soldiers.

Weary, wounded, not disheartened,

Holding our stand, we'll stand.

Conquer or die, never their dead.

Fighting still although reduced,

British soldiers to be ready.

To the masses held against them,

British soldiers to be ready.

Forces back to the front of lead.

There were just three hundred.

Three hundred gallant ones.

They counted out twelve hundred.

Four long hours of dreadful slaughter.

Monge, the dead, "manga."

"Gainst an army of six thousand,

Kept their stand, till forced to go."

An Instantaneous Wrinkle Remover

The average woman is always surprised to learn after experimenting with all sorts of patent so-called "wrinkle removers," that there is a simple face wash which she can use at home.

She has only to get an ounce of mineral oil and dissolve it in half a pint of water, add a few drops of rose water, and the job is done for the everyday day for washing.

You can use this wash after the very first treatment the wrinkles, if you like, will be removed.

A definite, comfortable feeling that is thoroughly satisfying, and the result is someone's appearance. This harmless home remedy will remove wrinkles without disturbing the unbroken texture of the skin.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1914.

Cheer up! There is a worse fate than having wheat, oats, and pork to sell in war time;

The members of the Alberta government and provincial civil service are making a substantial contribution to the Canadian patriotic fund. It is to be expected that the example thus set will be followed by the people of the province according to their means. So far as British people are concerned the war is a fight to preserve the British Empire and the ideals of justice, liberty and fair play for which it stands. It is not possible for everyone to take a part in the field, but it is a privilege in which everyone can help. The men at the front are risking life and limb on the battlefield, by providing for those who are dependent upon them. It must not be said that while Canadians, British, French, Belgians, Russians or Servians are fighting our battles in Europe, we have done else than provided adequately for their dependents who are with us day by day. It is to be hoped that every man of Alberta will do his share in proportion to what has been done by the members of the government and of the civil service.

It is proposed to cancel $1,646,000 worth of unsold debentures, the work not having been begun. The bonds could not be sold while present conditions continue, and the work must be delayed until the war is over. If left in existence some interest and sinking-fund charges on them would have to be collected this fall. This would require an additional half mill on the tax-rate. The wisdom of canceling the issue seems fairly obvious, though it involves the establishment of a precedent for the city council to give up power to borrow money. The retrocession is not made voluntary, however.

The Washington report that groups of men with supposedly hostile intent have been gathering along the Canadian border to help arm and organize a "home guard" forces in Canada. Though the United States would undoubtedly take measures to prevent any such free-booting excursions, it must not be forgotten that on previous occasions expeditions of a similar kind were organized in the Republic and made more or less serious invasions into Canadian territory. We ought to be prepared, from sea to sea, to deal with invaders of this type if they should succeed in eluding the vigilance of the Washington authorities and make a dash across the border.

It is not against the German people that the allies are making war, though it is against them the fighting has to be done and upon them the suffering and misery has to fall. The enemy is the military system whose doctrines and authority have perverted and transformed an industrious and naturally independent people into a machine for purposes not defensive but of offense. However much the world may condemn the Kaiser and his Ministers, and however strange it may seem that so intelligent and courageous a people should allow themselves to be made the pawns in a game of international bully, it is none the less absurd to lament the aggression of a nation which stands to the people upon whom the sins of their leaders must fall. In fighting to break up the treaties of the Kaiser the allies are really fighting a battle which should help to free the German people from the dictation and domination of an autocracy.

Cheer up! The new wheat is being marketed.

The 101st under any other name will do its duty.

His Worship the Mayor had to be put to bed for repairs on Tuesday evening. No, not another fight. Due to shooting.

Russian news-sheets claim that the Kaiser is the victim of "brain storms" induced by continuous contemplation of himself. That may or may not be the case. The unfortunate feature is that it should he be demoted the vast power attaching to his position makes it possible for him to provoke an appalling slaughter and bring a nation to ruin by his inhuman policies. It is too large to be typified by the hundreds of any man. The world has a right to demand that no one shall make the Kaiser's name a scourge and Through all succeeding ages yet to come.

Shall we submit? Must Albert hand the knife? And when the world is being ruled by the God who reigns supreme on high?

By all the laws of Liberty and Right.

By all the cleanings over thousand years,

By all the laws of Justice and of Peace.

We die, or drink this Bold Imperial Brute

To an ignoble death, or to account.

For dead, the darkest ages would have scoured.

The Scourge of Europe, once was called a man, Who was a God, and who could stand before His Order from which did he bring to France, To Italy, to Germany, to Russia, to Spain, Till driven by power, he grazed the Universe. Then Britain brought him down. This scourge has made A home in Europe.

But yesterday, nor shares the hardships he As a God, nor shares the joys he as a man.

And pray, or reads the Book Instructs The Lord.

Or bids his soldiers do or die, and die.
